URGES CONFERENCE TO WORK WITHOUT LABOR

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—From his sick bed, President Wilson today dictated a letter to the industrial conference, in which he is said to have urged the conference to proceed without labor's representatives in an effort to frame a program for the establishment of industrial peace.

President Wilson in his message to Lane, asked that the public representatives continue work and to report to him. After receiving the message Lane declared the industrial conference as originally constituted adjourned, but immediately called the members of the public group into session as a new conference. After adjournment Mr. Lane said the public group will probably be increased in membership.

FOR SALE

The Fine Kentucky Jack MONITOR

Just landed from the Steamer Manoa, Oct. 13, '19

DESCRIPTION

Monitor is a brown Jack about 15 hands high and will weigh, when in good condition about 1000 lbs. He is perfectly sound but a little thin now, probably from not having received any extra treatment on the steamer, but will soon round out as he eats like a "house afire," which I consider a good sign in either a man or animal.

Now, in presenting MONITOR as a Kentucky Jack I don't know but what I may be lying again but will leave my friends to judge of this. If so I will put up no defense but stand convicted. I suppose that according to the strict interpretation of the letter of the law, that a Kentucky Jack means one bred, born and raised in Kentucky which is just what he isn't. His sire and dam were, which I consider an advantage as he was raised in the mild climate of California which is so similar to our own here in Hawaii. This animal was bred by an old Jack Man in California who knows more about Jacks in one minute than any of us would in six months. In describing him to me he said, "I bred this Jack for my own use, never expecting to sell him. I trained him in from colthood and he grew up and ran with the milking cows, loose horses, mares and colts. I have never bred him to a mare in the usual way of using a pit for the mare but allowed him to do his work entirely by himself. He will cover the biggest and tallest 17 hand mare that you can bring around. In running with the flock he doesn't molest mares unless they are in heat and then he does his work in great shape. I have only about a dozen mares of my own which is all I have ever bred to him and have never yet turned a mare out with him that did not prove in foal. I now have about thirty youngsters from him which with a dozen or so I have sold is all he had ever produced. Therefore he has never been over-bred.

This Jack possesses one trait that I never knew in a Jack before and that is for an animal of this kind that would lead behind a vehicle. They will generally lead alright if you are on the ground but can seldom be induced to lead like a horse. They will usually pull back but this fellow is just like a horse in this way and you can't start up too quick for him to lighten his halter. If the pace gets too strong he will fly into a run and keep up just like a lively horse."

As to the profits in mule breeding. A little experience came under my notice recently which throws a little light on the subject. I was on a ranch in our vicinity lately where they were breaking a nice young mule about 2 1/2 years old. I asked the manager whether or not he would care to sell the animal. His reply was, "Well, what do you think he is worth?" I said that I thought about $150. He said that he did not know how much would buy him but that $250 cash would not take the mule off the place. This mule was sired by a common native Jack and out of a common native mare, which shows what good one ought to bring."

In offering this Jack for sale it is not without a reason. I should like ever so much to keep him but am afraid that finances will hardly permit it, therefore I shall probably dispose him to the highest bidder inside of 30 days. That is if anyone comes along who appreciates such an animal. He is worth a lot of money but if I can not get it I may have to take less.

4-Minute Men To Preach Patriotism From Soap Boxes

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 8—(By The Associated Press)—Buffalo's Four Minute men who organized during the great war to promote the sale of Liberty bonds have undertaken a new task. They are preaching patriotism and love of country at the street corners.

The soapbox has been the rostrum of those who preached class hatred and revolution, it was said in announcing the campaign, and the Four Minute men believed that the class of speakers should be met on their own ground.

Accordingly they reorganized as the Minute Men and one of their number speaks each night. The first meetings have been well attended and the Minute Men say they have been encouraged by sympathetic response from their audiences. It is planned to continue the "soapbox" campaign as long as there is apparent need for it.
